Hello,

My name is Rich, and I am a multi-disciplinary web-focused software engineer and designer. In the past 4 years, I've help grow a small startup into a nationally recognized brand, used cutting-edge technologies to build r&d prototypes from the future, delivered products to market with limited turnaround times, and hand-built acoustic guitars from scratch.
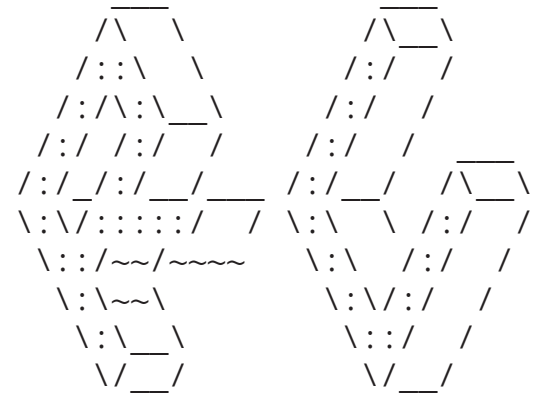

A colleague describe me as "Smart, funny, logical, reasonable, and always ready to Zumba". I've never done Zumba, but the rest checks out.

My goal is work with and help build a creative software team that values design and simplicity and wants to create amazing things.
